There is to be no baby show at the fair this year.

A Hawesville dispatch says it is probable that Honcock, a dry county for 20 years, will ask for a vote on prohibition, if the wets can get up a petition with 25 per cent. of the voters.

Now that the nights are longer than the days some folks in Elizabethtown won't have so long to loaf.—Elizabethtown News.

And busy Hopkinsville people have to work awhile after dark.

While this warfare is being waged against illiteracy in Kentucky we hope it will get the fellow who says, "I haven't saw."—Elizabethtown News.

How about the man who seen him when he done it?

The former federal sympathizers in Vera Cruz are acting wisely in getting out of Mexico before the Americans leave. As soon as they are free to do as they please with their enemies, the constitutionalists are sure to start a saturnalia of bloodshed.

Theodore Roosevelt's youngest daughter, Ethel, wife of Dr. Richard Derby, will nurse the wounded in the hospitals of Paris and her husband will be a surgeon in the French city. The two sailed Saturday. Richard Derby, Jr., their six-months-old baby, will be taken care of at Col. Roosevelt's home in Oyster Bay. Dr. Derby will go abroad in response to the call issued by Dr. Joseph A. Blake, head of the American ambulance corps in Paris, for six surgeons and a pathologist.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, speaking at a meeting in London in support of Lord Kitchener's appeal for recruits, said a war to crush militarism had the heartiest approval of women who had fought for political enfranchisement. "When the proper time comes," Mrs. Pankhurst added, "we shall resume that fight, but for the present we must all do our best to beat back a common foe."

The night rider outrage Saturday night at Meadonia was followed by a highway robbery in Hopkinsville and by the assassination of a prominent citizen on the Clarksville place all in side of one week. Christian county cannot stand for these things and the perpetrators of such crimes should be run to earth and severely punished. Night riding and assassination are crimes of which the Governor should take notice and offer rewards for the apprehension of the guilty.

Quick, Diogenes, the lantern! Our old friend, Frank G. Carpenter, who has knocked about the world a bit, and who has seen many crimes and lands, has lost faith in the honesty of the human race. Writing from Valparaiso concerning the employment of women as conductors on the street cars of that city he says: "They make good servants, and although they have to be watched as to turning in all the fares, they are more honest than men and conductors of street cars." part in the controversy, favoring the women.

EFFECTIVE FLY KILLER

Cod Liver Oil Declared to Be Far More Valuable Than Anything in Use.

Doctor Lang, government veterinary surgeon at Noumea, New Caledonia, has just discovered a new virtue in cod liver oil; he finds it is a powerful insecticide. He has used it especially against certain flies that are attracted by wounds upon horses and cattle, pestering the poor creatures and infesting the sores. He wipes the skin of the animal with cod liver oil; the flies come and are instantly killed.

Doctor Lang says that ticks on dogs and other animals are killed by a drop of this oil. He recommends that when wounds are receiving the open-air and sunlight treatment they be covered with cod-liver oil, as this will prevent any infection.

Cod liver oil poured on the surface of stagnant pools and marshes is said to kill the larvae of mosquitoes more surely and quickly than even coal oil, over which it has this other advantage—that it does not evaporate.

C. M. SHANNON

Publisher Richmond "Coaster" Waco, Texas, says that Grigby's Liv-Ver-Lax cured him.

Read his statement.

Most people of sedentary occupation such as Editors, Bookkeepers, office employees, stenographers and others who spend their lives indoors are more subject to the ravages of malaria than those who take a large amount of exercises out of doors.

Mr. Shannon devotes much of his time to writing and was a great sufferer from bilious headaches until he took Liv-Ver-Lax.

On his own statement, this renowned remedy cured him, just as surely as it will cure you of Constipation or other malarial symptoms. These symptoms are the signals ahead of serious complications if not eliminated.

There is no compromise with malaria. You must get it or it will get you. The ounce of prevention in the form of Liv-Ver-Lax may save even your life from Malaria, from which nearly every one in this climate suffers in a greater or less degree, develops rapidly when it once gets a hold on your system. QUITE DIFFERENT.

"Are you going to rusticate this summer?"

"No; just going to have a quiet time in the country."

HIS FACULTIES.

"How could that singer utter forged notes?"

"I suppose because his voice was thorough bass."

A JOYOUS TIME.

"How was your vacation, Patrice?"

"One continuous dip! When we were not dipping in the ballroom we were dipping in the surf."

THE FIRST THOUGHT.

Czar—Did that bomb jar you, my dear?

Czarina—Dreadfully. Is my head on straight?

THE ONLY VIEW

Mrs. Ugly-Mugge—I want my pictures to look like those of a beautiful woman. What pose do you suggest?

Photographer (absently)—Why not take a back view?

PUZZLED THE PARTY.

Being a funny man, he was at it again, spinning his latest yarns to the joyous party.

"I say," he remarked, "I bet none of you can answer this riddle."

"Well, what is it?" the question came in chorus.

"Can you name an animal that has eyes and cannot see, legs and cannot walk, but can jump as high as the Eiffel tower?"

For a moment there was silence, while brains were being racked. Then:

"I don't know," said some one. "I give it up."

The other members of the party also signified that they were beaten.

"The answer," said the funny man, "is a 'wooden horse.' It has eyes, but can't see; legs, but can't walk."

"Yes," came a triumphant shout, "that's all very well, but what about it jumping as high as the Eiffel tower?"

"Can the Eiffel tower jump?" sighed the funny man.

BUSY.

"You're not putting up the game we expected of you," said the baseball fan, reproachfully.

"Be reasonable!" replied the Eminent Player. "I've had to interview my lawyer, and sit for photographs, and keep my secretary supplied with material for literary work, not to mention looking out for stuff for my monologue next winter. A man can't do everything at once."

"QUICK SERVICE" WAS RIGHT

Proprietor of Restaurant Practised No Deceit When He Put Up the Sign.

I had to pass several hours in a certain small town in which there was no hotel, writes a Companion contributor. Late in the afternoon I saw on a window the words, "Restaurant. Quick Service," and I was so hungry that I made up my mind to take a chance.

I entered a very long, low-studded room, evidently occupied at one time as a bowling alley. A broken, dilapidated show case stood on the cheaply built board counter. Two or three dirty glass jars contained some broken candy. A few ancient-looking cookies lay in a box with a glass front. Two tables with eight chairs each and a few poorly printed signs that bore the bill of fare comprised the furnishings of the place. No one was visible. I sat down at the table and instantly a harsh voice appeared to proceed from the solid wall behind me. "What'll ye have?" it said.

From the etables announced on the different signs I chose "Cold Beans, 10 Cents," and as the inquiry was evidently aimed at me I shouted back, "Beans for one!" I had scarcely uttered the words when out of the door in the partition at the lower end of the room shot a tall man on roller skates. He wore a red undershirt and corduroy trousers.

With a grinding, roaring noise he bore down upon me. As he shot past my table he slid the plate of beans within an inch of my lap, at the same time shouting, "Cough up!" Still skating on, he reached the front of the room, described a figure eight near the door, and started to return. I had the dime ready, and as he flew past he scooped it up, and would no doubt have taken the table cover along, too, were it not for the fact that it was made of oilcloth and nailed down.

I ate about one-third of the beans and had enough.—Youth's Companion.

OVER THE TELEPHONE WIRES.

Excitable Party (at telephone)—Hello! Who is this? Who is this, I say!

Man at Other End—Haven't got time to guess riddles. Tell me yourself who you are.

ITS KIND.

"Did you see where a man bet he could use his safety razor while in midair in his aeroplane?"

"I'll bet that was a close shave."

GOOD AND BAD ART.

"Did that militant suffragette damage your picture?"

"It depends on which one she slashed. Maybe she improved it."

EXPLAINED.

"Why is there so much howling over the decline of the drama?"

"I suppose it is because they will try it on the dog."

Why She Didn't Faint.

"I suppose she fainted when her arm was broken?" "No, indeed; she scarcely noticed it." "Scarcely noticed it?" "No. You see she was wearing tight shoes at the time and they kept her mind fully occupied."
